Jeddah – Bride of the Red Sea

Jeddah has grown during the last two decades of the 20th Century, which made the city a centre for trade and business in the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia and a major port for exporting non-oil related goods as well as importing domestic needs. Jeddah is one of the most beautiful cities in Saudi Arabia. While the prevalent desert may suggest the country lacks natural beauty, there are several parks throughout the city that shows the port city is not only rich in oil reserves but has a fair share of lush greenery as well. The corniche houses the world’s highest King Fahd Fountain which is 312 metres high, the old town souk, warm beaches, spas and wellness centres. You will also find numerous educational and historical sites, and it is known for having many grand museums such as the Municipality Museum. The Jeddah Museum is the regional landmark that demonstrates historical archaeology and ethnography.

Jeddah aspires to be a world-class global commercial and tourist destination that enjoys distinctive environmental and human character within the context of a sustainable urban development.

Kingdom of Saudi Arabia’s “Vision 2030”

With the launch of Vision 2030, by Prince Mohammad bin Salman bin Abdulaziz Al-Saud, Deputy Crown Prince and Chairman of the Council of Economic and Development Affairs, potential is now well-defined and backed by the country’s visionary leaders. The Vision 2030 document reveals a well-thought-out strategy that takes into consideration Saudi Arabia’s strengths and its capabilities.

The focus on specific sectors is deliberate and evidently backed by a solid socio-economic rationale. Prince Mohammad bin Salman bin Abdulaziz Al-Saud, Deputy Crown Prince and Chairman of the Council of Economic and Development Affairs, identified the security industry as one of the important areas for support. All of which the Kingdom is either already a major consumer of or regionally well-placed to be a hub for re-export. The future is now!
